EMERGENCY FEEDING CLASS

COMMENTS FROM THE OFFICE OF THE TOWN MANAGER

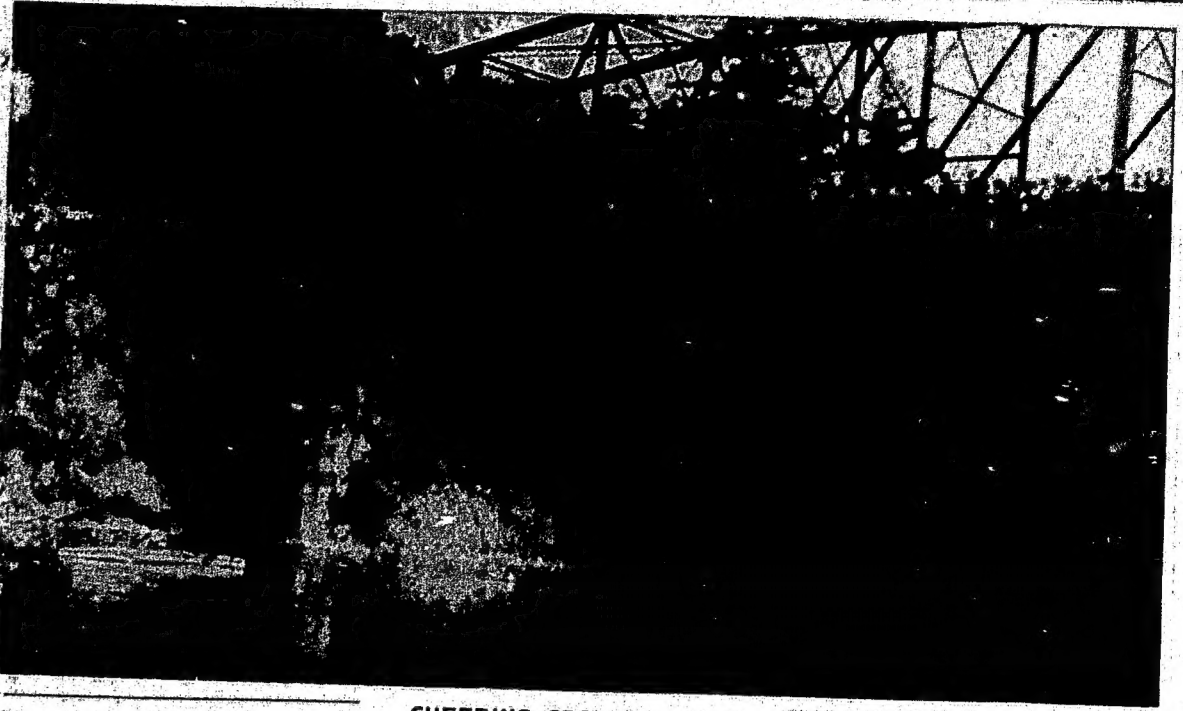

As taxpayers receive their bills for this year the thought not only of the considerable increase this year but of what the future has in store is going through most people's minds. We know we are faced with increased costs in most departments. There is almost a certainty of more money being needed for schools, welfare and insurance accounts.

If a local ambulance service is supplied we will have to anticipate a considerable expenditure there. There is a need of more men to cover Police protection if we answer the calls we receive. It is very possible we will lose the personnel we now have if we do not supply more assistance to them.

Next year we should be able to decrease the appropriation for snow removal. This could amount to $200 per thousand on the tax rate.

Welfare costs are increasing rapidly due to less strict requirements for eligibility to receive assistance. There appears to be no limit to expenditures for an established welfare case whereas the taxpayer has to ration himself to pay the bill.

MAINE BEAR HUNTERS LIMITED TO ONE PER YEAR AFTER OCTOBER 1

Several bear hunting law changes go into effect on October 1, 1969, as a result of action taken by the 104th Maine Legislature.

After that date, there will be a bag limit of one bear per hunter per calendar year as well as mandatory registration of all bears at game registration stations. In addition, it will become illegal to shoot, trap, take, kill, or have in possession any cub bear.

Hunters who have killed one or more bears prior to Oct. 1 will be allowed to kill one more during the remainder of this calendar year.

All bears taken after Oct. 1 must be taken to bear registration stations where they will be tagged in much the same manner as deer. Registration stations will be the same as those which now tag deer.

M. T. A. OFFICIAL REMINDS MOTORISTS OF RESPONSIBILITY — STOPPING FOR SCHOOL BUSES

The Maine Teachers Association reminded motorists during the first week of school that in most cases the presence of a double yellow line does not remove the obligation to halt for a stopped school bus in the opposite lane.

Dr. John H. Marvin, MTA executive secretary, said that for the sake of 137,000 children who ride the buses daily he hoped that clarification of a recent court ruling would be given wide publicity.

He said a written opinion by Superior Court Justice Sidney W. Wernick clears up a misunderstanding over his ruling that double yellow lines may serve as a divider, creating two separate roadways. Where two roadways exist the oncoming driver is not obligated to halt for a stopped school bus.

Dr. Marvin cited Justice Wernick's written opinion that "this decision applies only to multiple lane highways—highways on which there are at least four or more lanes—such as by definitive markings, or otherwise, it can be made clear that 'separate roadways' are contemplated. Second, references in this opinion to 'yellow lines' mean only that type of marking which operates as a road divider."

DOWN EAST FIRM WOULD PROVIDE AMBULANCE SERVICE IN AREA

Russell's Ambulance Service of Calais, owned by Isaac Russell, is ready to set up an emergency service for more than a dozen towns in western Oxford County and northern Cumberland County it was learned this week. Norway Town Manager Donald F. McAllister revealed that he had talked with Russell concerning this new setup that would provide two manned ambulances, fully equipped, for this area, for a price of $38,000 plus individual charges for calls.

These towns in the area are faced with the closing out of private ambulance services on the last day of this year.

In a letter received from Russell, McAllister said he was informed that Russell had been providing a professional ambulance service in the Washington County area for the past three years. He informed the Norway town manager that he could provide a round-the-clock seven-days-a-week answering service with

TELSTAR R. H. S. NEWS

GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT

The Guidance Department extends a warm welcome to you all for 1969-70.

The year 1969-70 offers to you all "A New Beginning", an opportunity to eradicate the academic errors of the past year to plan anew your program for 1969-70. It is the time of year when you need to review and re-evaluate your educational assets.

Educational planning is an important part of preparing for your future career after high school or college. The planning involves the united efforts of parents, teachers, counselors and students.

What are the steps involved in educational planning? Any systematic approach to this problem may involve the following steps:

1. Educational planning can be done effectively only by pupils who have developed reasonably well-defined goals for their lives.

2. The goals will have to do with the occupational field one wishes to enter and with the kind of person and citizen he wants to be.

3. Educational planning should be realistic with reference to one's aptitudes, other hereditary traits, and environmental opportunities.

4. Interest and abilities developed in certain school subjects are often clues to a wise occupational choice.

5. Educational planning should take into consideration not only courses but also opportunities for the following: (a) extracurricular activities; (b) work experience; (c) other out-of-school activities.

6. All students should plan to finish high school.

7. Many kinds of educational courses beyond high school are available to all people whether they plan to go to regular college courses or to occupational training schools.

8. In selecting your program for this year, consult your parents, administration, teachers and counselors.

9. Success in your placement after graduation, whether it be in college, or in the world at work, will depend upon the degree of achievement made at Telstar Regional during 1969-70.

May the faculty and students at Telstar Regional have a happy and profitable year in 1969-70.

Rumford Community Hospital
P. S. Thanks for the many letters, cards and beautiful flowers! They are a great enjoyment.

The following article has been received from Miss Bethany Andrews, Telstar '68, who spent six weeks during the past summer on the Island of Rhodes, Greece, with the International Youth Academy.

"The 6 weeks I spent in Greece this summer have become a very important part of my education and life. No one can FEEL the way a man lives and works in Greece by reading a textbook. He must be able to talk, eat, relax, and work with this man to know what he thinks, likes, and dislikes.

"After our group had discussed the Greek culture, customs, economy, and people for a couple of weeks in class, we broke into small groups to visit 4 of the nearby villages. Each group took the bus to its assignment early in the morning. When we got there (four village was Kremastli) we walked around for a while to see just how the people lived, what jobs there were, and how they enjoy their period of relaxation.

"As we walked down the main street we passed a candy shop where a man and his wife were mixing a type of fondou on a cold marble slab. He invited us into his shop and offered

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —
Wouldn't tourists delight in seeing it! But few know of its existence. Rock Dundee; wonder how it got its name.

Several of us recently made a visit there. We walked a short distance through the woods then right before us, this enormous mass rose gray and dignified, a tremendous overhang of granite. We stared up at this barren barrier against the sky and exclaimed. Here was certainly a promise of mystery and fascination.

The foreground deeply and richly forested had given us no hint of the towering mass now facing us.

Underneath the huge crag projection which formed a natural shelter, boulders and rocks in ages past had lost their footing from above and lay here weatherbeaten from the play of elements, presenting a lifeless forbidding front to us. The granite fragments might discourage one to climb, nevertheless we did as we were determined to reach the top.

We used common sense precaution and followed a "path" to the right

ed us some of the candy. (When served in a home it is scooped into a spoon, placed in a glass of water, served like this. The name means submarine.)

"After we had walked around the village for about an hour we went back to the church. No matter how poor the village may be the church is always freshly white-washed, the interiors display ornate frescoes completely covering the walls, gold chandeliers hang from the ceiling and candelabras glow with burning candles at all hours. The primary religion of the Greeks is the Greek Orthodox Church, quite like the Catholic Church, but varying in phases of ceremony and belief.

"During the remainder of the day we went down to the beach to watch the children swim, a small boy gave us cactus (prickly pear variety which is very good) to eat, talked with some friends of mine I had met in the city, ate lunch at a cafe, and sat with the men during siesta at a cafe while they played a Greek game similar to checkers.

"The Greek people are very proud of what they own no matter how poor they may be, and they offer to share what they have willingly. It's too bad more Americans couldn't follow them. The Greeks are very gracious hosts. If you go into a private home the first thing they do is offer you something to eat and drink.

"Among our other activities were trips to Lindos, the Ancient City of Kamillos (dated before Pompeii), Valley of the Butterflies (just as the name implies), the Wine Festival, Holy Day Festivals at Saroni and Kremastli, a day cruise to Turkey (I was not able to go), and trips which small groups of us would take on motorcycles and private cars just to explore the island.

"Lastly, I would like to encourage any person who has the opportunity not to pass up a chance to travel. What is gained is truly invaluable. No one can understand how a person lives by reading about him in books.

I cannot claim to be an expert after only 6 weeks, but I do have an idea of how the people think. The people are wonderful and the country is beautiful. Someday I hope to go back."

and up to the top.

Here we encountered blow-downs but otherwise not too bad traveling. Nearing the edge there was a planetary feeling as if atop the world.

The quietness and solitude were complements to the scene. Far below the lower slopes were of various colors of green; and the road a dark path among the spruces.

Opposite on guard stood Telstar Relay Tower reaching up to the sky. Through our binoculars the top resembled a perfect sleigh seat just waiting for one bold enough to mount and ride.

In the far distance the green of the farmlands and the blue of a lake were clearly visible. In fact here was a feast for all senses and we appreciated the glorious beauties nature was unfolding; even the few moments when the sky deepened and we watched the mists gather.

Then drops of rain rustled through the trees. But as swiftly as the drops came, the darkness passed; it cleared and everything smiled in the sunshine.

We spoke of the glacier carved valley and noted despite the intensity of the weathering this barren summit showed how it was scratched, etched, rounded and smoothed.

Our caution kept us from venturing too near the edge. We had no desire to go plummeting down this precipice. Surely there would be an extraordinary view of things below but much too brief and would end much too abruptly.

Following a stone wall (there was one even here) we found a gap and started to descend each watching beneath his feet. What is more startling than to have a rock give way without warning beneath your feet or to feel the horrifying suspense when you depend on a tree for support and it decides to fall with you!

Again down and looking once more toward the immensity of Dundee, I felt like a small speck of dust; and found that nature here too was too big to understand.

Doris Hayes and Colista Morgan met with other teachers at Agnes Gray's camp for a picnic supper on Thursday.

Mrs. Dale Mills and children spent the week end here at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Franze Mills.

with their brother, Everett Learned, for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Guyson Davis went to Upton, Aziscoos, back to Errol, N. H., to Berlin, home Sunday. This was a nice trip with a nice cooling breeze while riding for such a hot day.

Blackie, the Ellis Davis cat, has returned after a vacation we know not where. He looks smooth and glossy. He was hungry but not thin. He has been away for two months. We wish we could understand "cat language" as he talks constantly to us after he gets back from one of these trips. We wonder if he stays at someone's home or lives in the woods nearby. He is a solid black cat except for gray around the roots of his tail.

2 YEAR TRACK WARRANTY

A two year warranty against track separation applies to all 1970 single cylinder MOTO-SKI models. Standard warranty applies to 438, 500 and 634 cc models.

"Story of Moto-Ski's Exclusive Track"

Every MOTO-SKI built features our exclusive and unique Rubberized Steel Cleated Track.

What's so special about this track? Take the cleat itself: We start with a slab of flat steel (A). First, we put a very exacting curl to the metal's edge (B); then, each cleat is carefully hand-dipped in molten rubber and molded. Note how the curled edge allows the steel to become completely encased (C). Final shaping of each cleat gives this track its prime characteristics: (1) the traction rib for hard-packed or crusty snow (2) the beveled edge for superior performance in deep, soft snow.

Damage to ordinary, molded tracks, without cleats, requires total track replacement (at about a hundred bucks!).

On the MOTO-SKI track, individually mounted cleats can be quickly and inexpensively replaced (F). Each is secured with a half-dozen, tubular steel rivets (D) at intervals of about every three inches.

The 3-ply belt (E) is constructed of the highest quality rubber and nylon and is designed with a rough textured outer surface (greater traction) and a smooth inner finish (less friction). Its non-molded construction creates far greater flexibility at lowest temperatures... providing maximum conformability to all type terrains.

When you invest in a snowmobile, you have a right to expect that it will go where snowmobiles are supposed to go. With its exclusive track, MOTO-SKI meets this responsibility. The results: a superior performance on ice, crust, snow, deep snow and deep, deep snow.

The standard MOTO-SKI track width is 15". The big wide track measures 18" across.
